

Weekly Report from Hideaway Bay 4-2-22

- This week, maintenance focused on fixing the pool pump. Without the pump, we could not open the pool. The pool was closed from Tuesday till Friday as we had to get the parts needed from Pinch a Penny.
- We interviewed another candidate for the Captain's position. Slavek Pardo will be a good fit. He has experience running a ferry on South Venice. He will be available at the end of April. I called another candidate who lives by Orlando, and we decided that the commute would not work. I have another candidate who will call me on Tuesday for an interview.
- This week we had problems with Tarpon Realty sending renters here on the noon boat. We have told them in the past that we are still having people leaving and that the cleaners don't have time to properly clean. I called Audra at the Tarpon office and advised her too stop this practice
- All of the electronics from the pontoon boat and any other usable items were taken off the boat. The GPS and radio was put onto the skiff.
- I worked the past 2 Wednesdays, so to make up for the hours, I took Friday off.
- The light in the attic in E-11 was taken care of. A junction box was installed to cover the wires
- The printer in the office does not work. I will attempt to trouble shoot it. I posted a hand written not for the upcoming board meeting.
